

Read the passage carefully:

Mr Sam has a very bad cold. His nose is blocked, he coughs a lot, sneezes and he has a sore throat. He was fine last night, but now he is very ill. Mr Sam wants to go home and rest, but he cannot. He is an accountant and needs to do the salaries today. He still has to sign cheques so that the workers get paid on time. Mr Sam's boss went on a business trip to England. He will not be back until the end of next week. Before he left, he asked him to take care of the office. There are twenty workers and they are all very busy. Hopefully, they won't catch Mr Sam's cold.

Now answer the following questions:

1. Who has a very bad cold?

2. How does he know he is sick?

3. Can he go home? Why?

4. Where is his boss?

5. How many workers are there?

6. According to you, what should the workers do so that they won't catch Mr Sam's cold?
